Tattvabodha Volume 6: Essays from the Lecture Series of the National Mission for Manuscripts

About the Book

The National Mission for Manuscripts was established in February 2003 by the Ministry of Culture, Government of India with the Purpose of Locating, documenting, preserving and disseminating the knowledge content of India's handwritten manuscripts, said to be the largest collection of handwritten knowledge documents in the world. While looking ahead to reconnect with the knowledge of the Past, the mission is in the process of trying to re-contextualize the knowledge contained in manuscripts for the present and the future generations. The Mission launched a lecture series titled "Tattvabodha" in January 2005. Since then, a monthly lecture series is organized in Delhi and other academic centres all over the country. Tattvabodha has established itself as a forum for intellectual discourse, debate and discussion. Eminent scholars representing different aspects of India's knowledge systems have addressed and interacted with highly receptive audiences over the course of the past few years. This volume, sixth in the series, contains nine papers presented by well-known authors in different Tattvabodha lectures organized by the Mission. These papers are in English, Hindi and Sanskrit, covering a variety of subjects of Indian Knowledge system. These scholarly articles should invoke keen interest among academicians, scholars and students of Indology.
